Narrative

The Rockford Fire Department responded to a commercial building fire. The building was home to the Golden Agers Center and was old Rockford Fire Station 4. This building has not been in use as a fire station since the late 1970's. The building was home to fire memorabilia.

First arriving units found fire at the rear of the building and heavy smoke from the attic area. Attempts were made to fight the fire from the inside but fire spread quickly through the attic space forcing firefighters out of the building. The building and its contents are a total loss. Fire cause is under investigation.
