

Rockford Connections

A Community Design Process for the New Multimodal Station

The City of Rockford is undertaking a process to develop the design of a new multimodal station that will provide for AmTrak service. This station is the next step in a series of initiatives to further enhance the Downtown. This process will build on the momentum created by the planned hotel & conference center, Davis Park enhancements, Main Street realignment, and the forthcoming strategic planning process for Downtown.

Residents are being asked to participate in this process to help shape how the station will look, feel and operate. Initial concepts for the station design will be presented to allow residents an opportunity to review and provide input. This session will include a presentation followed by interactive stations. There will be light refreshments.
